This course explores the nature and significance of the Black experience in Africa and the African Diaspora. Throughout the semester students will consider how historical and current issues in African, Black American, Latin American, and Caribbean cultures highlight the diverse, yet interconnected history of humanity. In examining how the Black experience is an integral part of the wider world, this course utilizes lectures, course readings, films, class discussion, and written assignments.